JUNE 2015

DEAN'S MESSAGE

Part I

Hope does spring eternal. Most of us are nearing the final moments of their academic or ecclesial year even though most calendars don't end when our year ends or starts anew. I am always panicking in the spring due to recruitment of new choristers. People who work with me know the annual cycle pretty well as my anxiety levels slowly increase as rejections outpace interest in a choral program. That will probably always be true about rejections outpacing interest, however this year is proving to be outstanding in that the rejections are not bothering me at all. As of today I have 11 new choristers signed up for next year and six more appointments with parents to go. I haven't the slightest clue as to why this year is being so successful. It may be a bumper crop of kids before a famine, but to me it says "Hope Springs Eternal". If you feel that you are constantly toiling away on rocky ground, remember that hope springs eternal.

Work with what you have been given. Most years I worry about the future of the choir. I worry if six or seven new boys a year are enough and then I remember that the Emperor Maximilian started the choir at Innsbruck with five boys, who may or may not have been exceptional, and a few men and they succeeded over time. If Maximilian can have a functioning choir with five kids then so can I.

Take Pictures of your students, choirs, and different aspects of your musical life. Looking back at past pictures can give you a real fresh perspective when you think things are not going well. When I enter one of my high anxiety worried states I sometimes pass by and glance at a past choir photo. In that passing glance one can realize that in the past it may not have been much of a group, picking may have been slim, but you still made music together, changed peoples hearts and moved souls.

Hope springs eternal. Work with what you got. Take pictures. You will also be a little surprised at the number of people who take more than a passing glance at such pictures. Pictures might reveal the ebb and flow of your music making. You should also remember that even during a low ebb tide there is still the same dedication and consistency of your work and the unknown benefits that came from other peoples' labors of love because you were there. So as another season ends take stock of where you are, where you'd like your music making to be and go for it. Hope does spring eternal.

Part II

In a past message I mentioned and encouraged each of us to think of someone who should be in our company of friends. The person I personally thought I should make a point to visit I have 'Yet' to do so, however other opportunities of promoting the guild came my way. The main points remain the same. The AGO is a terrific vehicle to help ensure the future of the organ and choral music. We are dedicated to passing on the torch, working with the young, and supporting the not so young. Not every effort paid off, but one did and Hope springs eternal.

I say this because the AGO is a gift to all of us. I've had a musical life because of AGO members. Promoting the guild should be a joy cause what we do changes lives, gives hope, and serves as an oasis of inspiration in a harried world. Think about it and don't hesitate to invite someone. We are an active chapter with good programming and projects that benefit all like the upcoming Pipe Organ Encounter for teens in July of 2016 at Mount Holyoke College and a January Jubilee 'mini convention' in 2018. Your chapter is "a'movin'" so spread the word and join the action. We are here for you.

Part III

Refresh yourself! Indulge in some idle chat, companionship, food, and Great Music on a local King of Instruments. Hope springs eternal especially when you consider the young talent that has sprung from the Springfield area in recent years.

The Organ Historical Society is kicking off their week-long discovery of the great organs of western Mass with Chris Houlihan performing on what is perhaps the greatest remaining organ from Springfield's Golden Age when money was no object and even Rolls Royce was made in Springfield. It is the OHS opening Gala Concert and our Final Event of the season. Treat yourself to a fun night out. With food, company, and music can you really ask for anything more? Invite a friend and come to St. Michael's for relaxing night out. Let someone else make dinner and do the music for You!

Faithfully yours,

Lad Pfeifer, dean

CHIFF CHAT SEEKS A NEW EDITOR

Yes, alas! It is time for me to hang up my editorial cap and shuffle off along the ol' dusty trail. This issue of Chiff Chat will be my last for the Springfield Chapter for the time being.

I grew up in the Berkshire Chapter of the AGO and have always held a special place in my heart for the members who did so much for me when I was a young budding organist. Now the chapter has asked for me to assume a leadership position and I feel both gratitude (that they wish to have me as a leader) and a great sense of responsibility. I would not be the organist I am today without the Berkshire Chapter and it is that sense of duty that is calling me back to serve their chapter as best as I am able. This means that I must take my time away from the Springfield Chapter for now.

If you have any desire to serve as editor of the Chiff Chat, please contact Lad Pfeifer (ljep@diospringfield.org) or contact me (sbailey@westfield.ma.edu) and I will walk you though all of the necessary duties.

All the best!

Scott Bailey, editor

MEMBERSHIP RENEWAL AND ONCARD

So, those of you who renewed your membership last June using ONCARD, you have already received your renewal notice for this year via email.

For those of you who are new to the chapter, or who need a refresher about ONCARD, here are some tips:

How do I renew my membership?

Go to <https://www.agohq.org/oncard/>. Click the button that says "ONCARD Login/Renew". Follow the instructions on the page to log in. Click on "Renew Dues and Subscriptions." Once you are in, you can update your information and pay online via your credit card. They even have a link with a six minute long video instruction guide to help you with the whole process.

But I don't want to pay with my credit card!

Go to <https://www.agohq.org/oncard-login/>. Follow the instructions on the page to log in. Click on "Renew Dues and Subscriptions." After you proceed with the process, you will get to a screen which gives you the dues balance, any updated information, and your invoice number in red. If you want to print the invoice, click on the red invoice number and a new screen will appear which will allow you to print your invoice. Print it out, write out your check for the proper amount, and then mail it to national.

My church pays for my dues...

Follow the procedure above and have the church cut the check instead of you.

What about dual membership?

I was able to sign up for my dual membership and it worked fine. Others have not been so lucky. If you have issues with your dual membership you will have to contact the national office (www.agohq.com)

I never go online. What do I do?

Contact your dean, Lad Pfeifer (ljep@diospringfield.org or 860-227-6961). He will provide you with your invoice via national headquarters. If your email address is not registered with National, you will automatically receive a paper renewal form.

I'm a chapter friend, not a regular member. How do I renew?

Send your regular dues amount to Jim Barnes. Chapter friends are not technically part of the national organization so they do not fall under the ONCARD umbrella. The best option is to contact our treasurer Jim Barnes (intwmass@aol.com or 413-568-8477) to see what steps should be taken.
